

The thesis "Paediatric Trauma" is divided in two main parts. The theoretical part of the thesis informs a reader about epidemiology and prevention of paediatric trauma. Especially home environment as a risky factor in early childhood and pre-school age has been mentioned in detail including prevention of trauma in the above age group.

The second, practical part, analysis result of research. This part includes anonymous questionnaire applied in the above age groups. Group of respondents consists of parents of children in early childhood and pre-school age as well. The practical part is followed by discussion.