

Abstract

The aim of this bachelor thesis is to find out to what extent the Czech and Indonesian scouting are identical or different in the interpretation of basic values and everyday practice by comparing the Indonesian section Gerakan Pramuka UIN SGD Bandung and the Czech 6th Lyra section. It is precisely the common values that allow scouting worldwide and the synergistic development of the entire organization at the level of Scouts and Girl Guides, reflected in the very existence of the Scout movement, the world's largest educational movement in the world.

The introductory part of the thesis is devoted to the historical development of the scout movement in the world and to the introduction of the basic definition and mission set by the world scout organization WOSM. The second part focuses on Indonesian and Czech Scouting, especially on the historical development and general structure of both scout national organizations Gerakan Pramuka and Junák - Czech Scout, z.s. environment. On the basis of all the mentioned information, the final part of the thesis deduces and evaluates the similarities and differences of the national scout organizations in the interpretation of the generally determined Scout values.
