

The objective of this thesis is to find any spiritual elements when raising children in today's society. This thesis contains three chapters, the second of which being the most significant. In this chapter elements which strengthen the foundation of maternal spirituality are characterized from three perspectives of a woman in indispensable roles; wife, mother and employee.