To the People with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) is certainly devoted more focus than before 1989. Most of people know that this people live not only in foundation but also exit a lot of social services, which allow to people with IDD stay in their homes and natural environment. But when we task people what they know about sexuality and relationship of the people with IDD, maybe they will hesitate or say, that this people don't have any sexual a relationship needs. The same approach to these talking point can be found also in some social services. In Arkadie is also paid no attention to sexuality and relationship of the people with IDD. But there is need to work with it in face of Arkadie help people with IDD to integration to casual community and the sexuality is integral part of this.

I decided to create concept of approach to the sexuality of the people with IDD. I also asked myself if these concept will be too important and actual a for my college, clients and their parents.

In the theoretic part I focused to themes which are important for sexuality of the people with IDD and I used them in working on Concept. I wanted to know if my college, clients and their parents are also sure that these Concept is necessary. I made interview with parents, questioner for my colleagues and observation the most actual themes for clients in sexuality. All these investigate ratified the need of Concept. Coexist need personal in social services have special qualification for work with people with IDD and their sexuality. There is also need to offer parents special education, counseling, information in sexuality their adult children.

I hope that these concept of approach the sexuality which is product of my graduation theses, is the beginning of the systematic and qualified but also human approach to sexuality clients with IDD.
