

Abstract

Bachelor thesis „Quality of life in patients with cystic fibrosis“ deals with difficulty about living with this diagnosis. The work is divided into theoretical and empirical part. The theoretical part describe disease cystic fibrosis and deals with the clarification of basic terms related to this disease, symptoms and treatment.

Empirical part is processed on the basis of quantitative research using of short version WHOQOL – BREF questionnaire, which we have changed for needs of our thesis and filled in with question of our construction. Goal was to find out impact of this desease on profesional and personal live of our respondent, evaluate the level of quality of their life and satisfaction with care. Findings and evaluation defined goals are at the end of thesis.