

In the presented work I devote to design and implementation of game environment for computer driven players in 2D space. Next I present design and implementation of player to the designed environment. In player design I have used A* algorithm for action planning. I have used A* also for movement management. I have used genetic algorithms to enhance heuristic function of A* algorithm. Project is implemented on Java SE 5 platform.