

Abstract:

This Thesis deals with the issues of violence in relation to the time of National Socialism of the second and third Generation of the survivors illustrated by the examples of the sinking of the Cap Arcona and the Neuengamme concentration camp. The main source are the Interviews with the families of the Czech survivors from Cap Arcona and Neuengamme Concentration Camp and an interview with the main management of Neuengamme monument. The approaches from the experts to the transgenerational transmission of trauma will be discussed in the theoretical part the and they will be also analyzed and evaluated.