

My diploma thesis deals with the role of a shepherd today from a biblical perspective. In the first part I aim mainly to description and clarification of the term shepherd on pages Old and New Testament with the accent on shepherd's role man and God, than in New Testament on Jesus Christ.

In the second part will subsequently include some excursus in the world of contemporary shepherd. Then I will further deal with set of rule of shepherd service and theology a concrete three churches- The Roman Catholic Church, The Evangelical Church of Czech Brethren, The Czechoslovak Hussite Church. In conclusion of this part I will try summararize piece of knowledge and ensuing compare it with ecumenical efforts in field shepherd service.

At the very end I will essay to resume of all this work and compare with biblical sources and live pastorate.
