

The theoretical part deals with psychological characteristic of people with with mental illness, general characteristic and classification of mental illness. Theoretical part consists of chapters about Down 's syndrome and autism; forms of upbringing and education of children with mentalillness at special schools. It deals with methods and ways of teaching and learning Physical Education at special schools. The practical part is focused on methodology of teaching and learning floorball at special schools. General floorball characteristic, phases and training system of floorball are included. The second section of practical part deals with floorball methodology at a particular special school.