Title:

Ethical Matters of Savings, Investments and Stock-Exchange Gambling

Annotation:

The thesis will analyze ethical problems related to savings, investments and stock-exchange gambling. It will consist of three parts. The first part will explain economic terms and mechanisms which will be employed in the remaining parts of the paper. The second part will try to find, discuss and apply the criteria of ethical valorization of money. The third part will introduce practical problems with ethical valorization of money and provide an additional outline of current options available to a practical person interested in this topic here.

The emphasis will be placed on thorough analysis of the problem, providing an overall outlook on the problems and giving a clear justification and evaluation of criteria which will be the main output of the thesis. The thesis will be based on the biblical ethos and on the opinions of moral theologians and its conclusions will be compared to the viewpoint of the church magisterium.
