

The bachelor thesis deals with description of methods used in photographic documentation in archaeology. The goal of the thesis is to describe photographic documentation in every type of its usage. There is also a description of equipment, types of lighting and taking photos in each type. The purpose of thesis is to be helpful during taking photos in archaeology. It also mentions problems which can appear during this documentation and suggests suitable solution.