VoiceChat is program intended for voice and chat communication between several computers with the Windows operating system. Command and chat messages are sent over the network using TCP protocol. Voice is captured and played by DirectSound and transferred with UDP protocol. GSM 6.10 codec is used to lower data transfer rate.