

Abstract

Bachelor thesis "Professiogram as the basis for the creation of methodologies for social workers in health care when working with chronically ill children" deals with the capture of professional activities, requirements and conditions of health and social worker, from which can be deduced further demands on the professionalism of personality worker and the eventual design methodologies.

The theoretical part deals with the issue of chronic disease in children, including its impact on the daily life of the child, and social work in health care and the efficiency of the health status of the client that influence disease got into a difficult situation.

The practical part of using qualitative research methods, interview, time frame and adding the methods of critical events created profesigram social worker in health care.

Keywords

Child, chronic disease, medical devices, social work, social work in health care, social worker in health care, demands of the profession, profesigram.