

Summary

Životní situace žen žijících v azylovém domě

Life Situation of Woman in The Shelter

Jana Súkeníková

The bachelor work devotes problems in the social act, which can bring mothers with children to the shelter houses. The main research question sounds: „What way of life brought women to the shelter?“

The theoretical part of this work includes definition social functioning, the concept of living situations. The subsequent term, models and methodologies situation. This part describes characteristics and activities of shelter houses for mothers and children in crisis too.

The second, empiric, part is composed of the methodological section. For this research used a qualitative research method. The third section contains a description of the equipment that I have examined. This section presents the research sample and the results obtained from the interviews.