

Yehuda Amichai – Poetry in the light of Traditional Jewish Literature

Marie Holá

The present work named Yehuda Amichai - poetry in the light of traditional Jewish literature addresses the relationship between religious texts of Judaism and essentially secular and modern poetry of one of the greatest poets of Hebrew language. The text contains more than twenty newly translated poems and through their analysis tries to capture the creative principles and key topics of the poet's work.