

This thesis is a partial summary of available findings on the Protestant church architecture in Bohemia in the late 18th century, during the 19th century and the early 20th century.