

Author of the thesis writes about problems surrounding Muslim burials in the Czech Republic. This thesis concentrates on the influence of a Muslim traditions related to burying deceased and possible problems which may arise in the Czech Republic. Historical development is not omitted during acceptance of Islam in the Czech area and consequences for the funeral industry. Author further deals with current laws and new possibilities concerning Muslim burials in the Czech Republic. The thesis has been able to find out the possibilities of preserving traditions in funeral rituals. In addition, the current Czech laws on burial were examined and conclusions drawn from them for possible changes or compromises concerning not only Muslim burial, but also other cultural traditions with specifics.