

This thesis focuses on the commencement and transformation of the Jewish – Christian controversy, from its initial display in the first centuries of the Christian calendar until the commencement of the modern era.